

MiraCosta College English as a Second Language

As our workplace becomes more diverse, one of the major challenges facing employers is the growing number of employees who have difficulty communicating in English. While generic ESL (English as a Second Language) courses can certainly help people improve their general language skills, we have found that most employers would prefer an ESL course that was specifically designed to address the needs of their particular industry.

In response to this challenge, we have developed a program that customizes our approach to ESL to fit your needs. We will work together with you to incorporate many of the words and phrases most common to your workplace. The net result of our ESL program is increased communication and a tremendous lift in both morale and productivity as employees gain more confidence in their language skills. Our ESL program provides the following:

- Assessments of employee language levels
- High quality ESL instruction by certified ESL instructors
- Interactive, enjoyable instructional workshops
- Industry-driven vocabulary instruction
- On-site classes with a flexible schedule to meet your needs

"We receive on-going training from MiraCosta College. Our employees have made so much progress, that MiraCosta College has been able to expand the program in advanced areas."
