MCC stamps out butts

Associated Student Government Stephan Fowler quit smoking three months ago with the help of student Health Services. No student has complained to me about second hand smoke since the policy has been in place. Students used to complain to me all the time,” said Robertson. According to Judy Foster, there are 78 students from both campuses who have come forward to the Health services looking for help to quit smoking. Seven students have been referred to other agencies that will be able to meet their needs to quit. “I am pleased to hear that faculty and students have gone to smoking cessation,” Robertson said.

There is no policy that says that a student will be formally reprimanded for smoking on campus. The faculty and staff are encouraged to ask a student who is smoking to put his or her cigarette out politely. Robertson said that he is very pleased with the policy and that most students understand the policy and adhere to it. “The students who don’t understand the policy are very polite and respectful when I have asked them to put their cigarettes out,” he stated. There are proper receptacles in place at all of the entrances to campus for students to put their cigarettes out in.

The policy does not only prohibit tobacco such as chew or dip are also not allowed.

“Seventy Percent of smokers would like to quit. Five percent try to stay nicotine free for three to 12 months.”

--quitsmoking.com

“Deaths related to smoking are estimated to be 440,000 per year. That’s 1,200 Americans a day.”

--Center for Disease Control

“Smoking causes 30 percent of all cancer related deaths in the United States, mostly lung cancer.”

--Center for Disease Control

“Twenty one percent of Americans over the age of 18 currently use cigarettes.”

--quitsmoking.com

“Secondhand smoke is estimated to cause 3,000 deaths a year in the United States.”

--Smoking Statistics.org

“11 Students are coming in regularly to smoking cessation counseling on the Oceanside Campus.”

--Center for Disease Control

“Deaths related to smoking such as cold or other respiratory illnesses. The smoking cessation courses offer one on one counseling about ways to quit. The students will be given information and nicotine patches that aid them in their quitting process.

The number of students who have quit smoking since the ban on campus took place has not yet been calculated because the policy is still very new to the college. According to Dick Robertson, the Vice President of Student Services, two years is needed for the policy to be completely noticed on campus and for the culture to shift away from smoking. The policy was implemented because of the great concern for second hand smoke and the health effects it can have on people. “No student has complained to me about second hand smoke since the policy has been in place. Students used to complain to me all the time,” Robertson said. According to Judy Foster, there are 78 students from both campuses who have come forward to the Health services looking for help to quit smoking. Seven students have been referred to other agencies that will be able to meet their needs to quit. “I am pleased to hear that faculty and students have gone to smoking cessation,” Robertson said.

There is no policy that says that a student will be formally reprimanded for smoking on campus. The faculty and staff are encouraged to ask a student who is smoking to put his or her cigarette out politely. Robertson said that he is very pleased with the new policy and that most students understand the policy and adhere to it. “The students who don’t understand the policy are very polite and respectful when I have asked them to put their cigarettes out,” he stated. There are proper receptacles in place at all of the entrances to campus for students to put their cigarettes out in.

The policy does not only prohibit smoking on campus, but all forms of tobacco such as chew or dip are also not allowed.

“Seventy Percent of smokers would like to quit. Five percent try to stay nicotine free for three to 12 months.”

--quitsmoking.com

“Deaths related to smoking are estimated to be 440,000 per year. That’s 1,200 Americans a day.”

--Center for Disease Control

“Smoking causes 30 percent of all cancer related deaths in the United States, mostly lung cancer.”

--Center for Disease Control

“Twenty one percent of Americans over the age of 18 currently use cigarettes.”

--quitsmoking.com

“Secondhand smoke is estimated to cause 3,000 deaths a year in the United States.”

--Smoking Statistics.org

“11 Students are coming in regularly to smoking cessation counseling on the Oceanside Campus.”

--Center for Disease Control

“Deaths related to smoking such as cold or other respiratory illnesses. The smoking cessation courses offer one on one counseling about ways to quit. The students will be given information and nicotine patches that aid them in their quitting process.

The number of students who have quit smoking since the ban on campus took place has not yet been calculated because the policy is still very new to the college. According to Dick Robertson, the Vice President of Student Services, two years is needed for the policy to be completely noticed on campus and for the culture to shift away from smoking. The policy was implemented because of the great concern for second hand smoke and the health effects it can have on people. “No student has complained to me about second hand smoke since the policy has been in place. Students used to complain to me all the time,” Robertson said. According to Judy Foster, there are 78 students from both campuses who have come forward to the Health services looking for help to quit smoking. Seven students have been referred to other agencies that will be able to meet their needs to quit. “I am pleased to hear that faculty and students have gone to smoking cessation,” Robertson said.

There is no policy that says that a student will be formally reprimanded for smoking on campus. The faculty and staff are encouraged to ask a student who is smoking to put his or her cigarette out politely. Robertson said that he is very pleased with the new policy and that most students understand the policy and adhere to it. “The students who don’t understand the policy are very polite and respectful when I have asked them to put their cigarettes out,” he stated. There are proper receptacles in place at all of the entrances to campus for students to put their cigarettes out in.

The policy does not only prohibit smoking on campus, but all forms of tobacco such as chew or dip are also not allowed.

“Seventy Percent of smokers would like to quit. Five percent try to stay nicotine free for three to 12 months.”

--quitsmoking.com

“Deaths related to smoking are estimated to be 440,000 per year. That’s 1,200 Americans a day.”

--Center for Disease Control

“Smoking causes 30 percent of all cancer related deaths in the United States, mostly lung cancer.”

--Center for Disease Control

“Twenty one percent of Americans over the age of 18 currently use cigarettes.”

--quitsmoking.com

“Secondhand smoke is estimated to cause 3,000 deaths a year in the United States.”

--Smoking Statistics.org

“11 Students are coming in regularly to smoking cessation counseling on the Oceanside Campus.”

--Center for Disease Control

“Deaths related to smoking such as cold or other respiratory illnesses. The smoking cessation courses offer one on one counseling about ways to quit. The students will be given information and nicotine patches that aid them in their quitting process.

The number of students who have quit smoking since the ban on campus took place has not yet been calculated because the policy is still very new to the college. According to Dick Robertson, the Vice President of Student Services, two years is needed for the policy to be completely noticed on campus and for the culture to shift away from smoking. The policy was implemented because of the great concern for second hand smoke and the health effects it can have on people. “No student has complained to me about second hand smoke since the policy has been in place. Students used to complain to me all the time,” Robertson said. According to Judy Foster, there are 78 students from both campuses who have come forward to the Health services looking for help to quit smoking. Seven students have been referred to other agencies that will be able to meet their needs to quit. “I am pleased to hear that faculty and students have gone to smoking cessation,” Robertson said.

There is no policy that says that a student will be formally reprimanded for smoking on campus. The faculty and staff are encouraged to ask a student who is smoking to put his or her cigarette out politely. Robertson said that he is very pleased with the new policy and that most students understand the policy and adhere to it. “The students who don’t understand the policy are very polite and respectful when I have asked them to put their cigarettes out,” he stated. There are proper receptacles in place at all of the entrances to campus for students to put their cigarettes out in.

The policy does not only prohibit smoking on campus, but all forms of tobacco such as chew or dip are also not allowed.
Women’s soccer ends a respectable season

By Nima Assad

Women’s soccer finished the season 7-4-3 in conference and 10-5-4 overall after a home win against San Diego City College Nov. 11.

“The first five, ten minutes is going to make the difference in this game,” stated Head Coach Nick Skvarna in the pre-game huddle. Angelina Hix went on to score the first goal in the opening minutes of the game. Midfielder and team captain Aida Ceja would score the second goal with an assist by Hix. The score was 2-0 upon halftime. “Treat this second half like it’s 0-0,” stated Skvarna. Lana Cook scored the third goal of the game. Aida Ceja scored her second goal during a penalty kick. Heidi Chasse scored the final goal from outside the box. MiraCosta College won 5-0.

The team finished fourth in conference. “It has been a rewarding season. This team has been the best MiraCosta College team since 03. We have been competitive in all games, had a winning record and have competed with the top teams in our conference,” stated Skvarna. The last time women’s soccer at MCC went to playoffs was in the ’03 season.

Angelina Hix scored 17 goals and had 10 assists for the season. She is ranked seventh statewide on Women’s 2011 Field Player Statistical Leaders. Aida Ceja scored seven goals and had seven assists. Elizabeth Rivas had seven goals and four assists. Hix and Rivas were two of the three players on the team to go All-Conference after a vote by coaches. “They have been the best team I’ve had at MiraCosta College,” stated Skvarna, currently in his fifth year at MCC.

“I’m bummed we didn’t make the playoffs. We had fun, and it was a fun year. I’m sad it’s over,” stated goalkeeping coach Christine Sheehy. According to Skvarna, Sheehy was out due to a prolonged knee injury for the stayed with the team all season.

The Pacific Coast Conference includes Miramar, Cuyamaca, San Diego Mesa, Palomar, Southwestern, Grossmont, San Diego City, Imperial Valley and MiraCosta College. Miramar, Cuyamaca and San Diego Mesa went on to playoffs. The team finished fourth in the conference with 2-1-2 record.

The first was a 4-2 win against Mt. San Jacinto (1-4-1). The second, a 4-1 win against Los Angeles Valley (5-1-5). The third was a 1-1 tie with Irvine Valley (3-1-4-3).

The first conference game was against San Diego Mesa (12-3-5) on Sept. 20, resulting in a 0-0 tie. The team later tied with Mesa (12-3-5) for a second time. Mesa placed third in conference and went on to the playoffs. Miramar (16-2-8) placed first in conference and beat the team twice this season. The first game was 1-5 and the second was 1-2. Cuyamaca (13-1-5), the second placed team in conference, beat MCC 1-2 in their first game and 0-1 in the second. Palomar (7-11-2) was shutout twice by the team this season, the first 2-0 and the second 4-0. Southwestern (6-11-2) and San Diego City (4-14-3) were also each shutout twice by the team. MiraCosta College beat Grossmont (2-15-2) 3-0 in their first game and tied 1-1 in the second.

“Our goal has always been to be competitive with top teams, and we have done that,” said Skvarna. Forward Angelina Hix, defender Jaunsin Day and defender Danielle Bever are all first year players with MCC and, according to Skvarna, are promising players who will be returning next season. He says that the team is losing some good second year players and that there is going to be a need to recruit in order to fill those spots. “I urge anybody wanting to come out for the team to join my spring and summer soccer class,” stated Skvarna.
Thanksgiving

Who are you kidding?

Michelle Mahler
Assignment Editor

There is nothing wrong with having a set day to give thanks. I think that’s an excellent idea. Don’t know if anyone has told you yet, but you live in America. By living in America you have a lot to be thankful for. We should all sit around a table and mention all of the things we are totally stoked we have. The problem I have with Thanksgiving is that it is set around this pretense that the Indians and Pilgrims worked together and lived in a beautiful feast. That’s where my “Thanksgiving love” turns into “are you freaking kidding me?”. Remember that school play you did where you got to be an Indian and bring the Turkey while your best friend had to be a Pilgrim and only got to bring bread? Remember, repeating those kind words to each other? Remember when you hugged and held hands and taught each other how to plant and gather? That seriously didn’t happen. I don’t know where in the world we got the idea that we loved each other, because I’m pretty sure that we actually couldn’t stand each other. We called the people we were killing savages. Yes, it’s easier to kill someone who you pretend is less of a person than you. Good job, Pilgrims! You definitely did an awesome job of making it easier for yourself. Did you know that the definition of savagery is “A person regarded as brutal, fierce, or vicious.” Am I the only one who finds it ironic that we called the people we were brutally, fiercely and viciously attacking savages? The only thing we gave the Indians when we came around was disease. We are celebrating rape, murder and the stealing of land. Do you think that’s good? No one does. Do you want to know why? Because it’s awful. What Pilgrims did was awful. But Chelle, I’m positive it happened. I read it on the History Channel. “In 1621, the Plymouth colonists and Wampanoag Indians shared an autumn harvest feast that is acknowledged today as one of the first Thanksgiving celebrations in the colonies. For more than two centuries, days of thanksgiving were celebrated by individual colonies and states. It’s funny how when I tell a story about what happened when I hit a car and when the person I hit tells the story, it varies a bit. “When we met with the Wampanoag people, they told us that in researching the history of Thanksgiving, they had confirmed the oral history passed down through four generations. Most Americans know that Massasoit, chief of the Wampanoag, had welcomed the so-called Pilgrim Fathers—and the seldom mentioned Pilgrim Mothers—to the shores where his people had lived for millennia. The Wampanoag taught the European colonists how to live in the hemisphere by showing them what wild foods they could gather, grow, where and what crops to plant and how to harvest, dry and preserve them.” Americans today believe that Thanksgiving celebrates a bountiful harvest, but that is not so. By 1970, the Wampanoag had turned up a copy of a Thanksgiving proclamation made by the governor to the colony. The text revealed the ugly truth. After a colonial militia had returned from murdering the men, women and children of an Indian village, the governor proclaimed a holiday and feast to give thanks for the massacre. He also encouraged other colonies to do likewise. In other words, every autumn after the crops are in, go kill Indians and celebrate your murders with a feast. In November 1970, their descendants returned to Plymouth to publicize the true story of Thanksgiving and, along with about two hundred other Indians from around the country, to observe a national day of Indian mourning. Let me add that every year since 1970, the Wampanoag, along with many hundreds of Indians and African supporters from across the country, gather at Plymouth on Thanksgiving day to protest the lies and teach the American people the truth about our National “Christian” holiday.”

Congratulations, America! You have an entire holiday that is built on a lie. The only good thing about Thanksgiving is the day that follows. I’m totally locked in w i n d o w - s h o p p i n g and people watching the next day at four in the morning. It’s amazing the incredibly awful things you’d do for a woman and women will do to get a discount. It’s funny because I’m pretty sure that more closely resembles Thanksgiving than the actual Thanksgiving.

I am number one. My problem is that cute, I’m not sure if that should be a reason I leave. Am I being ridiculous? I thought I liked him but if I’m not going to dump him for his unfortunate features or continue to date him? I’m not going to be sexually attracted to him when the point? Should I dump him for his unfortunate features or continue to date him? Yours truly, Nearl Sided

Dear Nearl Sided,

I am dating the nicest, sweetest, funniest guy on the planet. He is caring and always makes me feel like I am number one. My problem is that my friends don’t think he’s cute. They think he’s a kind of a dog. While he isn’t that cutie, I’m sure that if that should be a reason I leave. Am I being ridiculous? I thought I liked him but if I’m not going to dump him for his unfortunate features or continue to date him? I’m not going to be sexually attracted to him when the point? Should I dump him for his unfortunate features or continue to date him? Yours truly, Nearl Sided

Dear Wolfman,

I am number one. My problem is that my friends don’t think he’s cute. They think he’s a kind of a dog. While he isn’t that cutie, I’m sure that if that should be a reason I leave. Am I being ridiculous? I thought I liked him but if I’m not going to dump him for his unfortunate features or continue to date him? I’m not going to be sexually attracted to him when the point? Should I dump him for his unfortunate features or continue to date him? Yours truly, Nearl Sided

This is the age old question: I mean think about it. Have you even seen “Beauty and the Beast”? I think you have. Where do we go from here? Stick it out sexy sister. Personality will always triumph over looking like the Grinch. The more you get to know this Quasimodo the more you will see past his hump and find his heart of gold. Also, let’s take a trip to the future together. Is he still going to have that six-pack and full head of hair? I think not. Looks fade, but hilarity will stay forever. A guy who tickles your funny bone is sure to tickle other places as well. You have found a winner. How dare you go and ask if you should keep him? He is caring, funny, sweet, nice and makes you feel like number one. You are seriously considering letting that go because your ‘friends’ think he’s a gargyle? Your friends are dumbasses and you considering dropping him because he cracks you make you any less of a dumbass. Would you want a guy who thought all of that about you? You can have any woman you think women are meant to be a piece of eye candy? You wouldn’t because you are more than just a face. This is an issue we have in today’s society. Why are we placing time spending with my insane family worth it.”

“I am the military so I don’t have time to drink. My family drives me to my grandparents’, and they offered to make me dinner with their family.”

“I am going to meet my girlfriend’s entire family this Thanksgiving. I am a little nervous.”

“Wait, Thanksgiving is next week? Wow, that snuck up on me.”

“I love Thanksgiving. My family always has such a good time together.”

“Thankfully I am old enough to drink. My family drives me crazy!”

“I am in the military so I don’t get to see my family this year. I am thankful my buddy’s wife invited me to have dinner with her family.”

“Football is the best part of Thanksgiving.”

“My family all gets together at my grandparents’, and they how to party.”

“All of my friends from high school come back to town and we get catch up. That makes spending time with my insane family worth it.”

“Every year I volunteer at a soup kitchen downtown. That is what Thanksgiving means to me.”

“I like Thanksgiving but only because it brings me one step closer to Christmas.”

“I told us that in researching the November 21, 2011 closer to Christmas.”

“Because it brings me one step is what Thanksgiving means soup kitchen downtown. That is my family worth it.”

“All of my friends from high school come back to town and they are going to meet my girlfriend’s entire family this Thanksgiving. I am a little nervous.”

“I am thankful that this will be my first Thanksgiving with my husband. He has been deployed for the the last two years.”

“I am going to meet my girlfriend’s entire family this Thanksgiving. I am a little nervous.”

“Wait, Thanksgiving is next week? Wow, that snuck up on me.”

“I love Thanksgiving. My family always has such a good time together.”

“Thankfully I am old enough to drink. My family drives me crazy!”

“I am in the military so I don’t get to see my family this year. I am thankful my buddy’s wife invited me to have dinner with her family.”

“Football is the best part of Thanksgiving.”

“My family all gets together at my grandparents’, and they how to party.”

“All of my friends from high school come back to town and we get catch up. That makes spending time with my insane family worth it.”

“Every year I volunteer at a soup kitchen downtown. That is what Thanksgiving means to me.”

“I like Thanksgiving but only because it brings me one step closer to Christmas.”

“I am the military so I don’t have time to drink. My family drives me to my grandparents’, and they offered to make me dinner with their family.”

“I am going to meet my girlfriend’s entire family this Thanksgiving. I am a little nervous.”

“Wait, Thanksgiving is next week? Wow, that snuck up on me.”

“I love Thanksgiving. My family always has such a good time together.”

“Thankfully I am old enough to drink. My family drives me crazy!”

“I am in the military so I don’t get to see my family this year. I am thankful my buddy’s wife invited me to have dinner with her family.”

“Football is the best part of Thanksgiving.”

“My family all gets together at my grandparents’, and they how to party.”

“All of my friends from high school come back to town and we get catch up. That makes spending time with my insane family worth it.”

“Every year I volunteer at a soup kitchen downtown. That is what Thanksgiving means to me.”
Hooked on Sushi is a great place for a quick lunch. It is a very casual hole in the wall Japanese restaurant located in the Vons shopping center off El Camino Real in Carlsbad. The ambiance screams average. From the average decor to the average menu—with the exception of a few creative specialty rolls—and average prices, you will find yourself unimpressed when you first walk in. Nevertheless, the friendly greeting you get combined with how clean it is will encourage you to give it a shot. It may be only a simple ‘70s revenge plot is instead a simple ‘70s revenge plot is necessary. While they do take reservations, it would be surprising if that would ever become necessary. The food was pretty good and everything tasted fresh. Their Jalapeno poppers and spicy tuna rolls are fantastic. However, the California rolls were mediocre at best, for something about them just tasted bland. It was surprising since it is a pretty basic roll, but overall the meal was acceptable.

Get in touch with the cosmos

A lone wolf and his cub walk a path of vengeance

“Lone Wolf and Cub” a manga created in the ‘70s by writer Kanzo Koike and artist Goseki Kojima. Set in the Tokugawa era Japan, the story’s central focus is Ogami Daigoro. Itto is a Shogun's central focus is Ogami Itto and his son, Koike and artist Goseki Kojima. Set created in the ‘70s by writer Kazuo Hook, line and sinker for sushi "Invaluable" insight gleaned from something that we can in turn analyze subject—who notices the design of a vase all day and painted their own vase. With their “Invaluable” exhibition, Jackie and Jenny have instead turned those artists of yore Jackie and Jenny have singlehandedly changed the artistic world. Jackie Lo and Jenny Yoshida Park convey a different message of American consumerism: the art is hand drawn on heavy stock paper that kindergartners use to learn coloring. Diane Adams, Kruglak gallery director.

Get in touch with the cosmos

A lone wolf and his cub walk a path of vengeance

“Lone Wolf and Cub” a manga created in the ‘70s by writer Kanzo Koike and artist Goseki Kojima. Set in the Tokugawa era Japan, the story’s central focus is Ogami Daigoro. Itto is a Shogun’s central focus is Ogami Itto and his son, Koike and artist Goseki Kojima. Set created in the ‘70s by writer Kazuo Hook, line and sinker for sushi "Invaluable" insight gleaned from something that we can in turn analyze subject—who notices the design of a vase all day and painted their own vase. With their “Invaluable” exhibition, Jackie and Jenny have instead turned those artists of yore Jackie and Jenny have singlehandedly changed the artistic world. Jackie Lo and Jenny Yoshida Park convey a different message of American consumerism: the art is hand drawn on heavy stock paper that kindergartners use to learn coloring. Diane Adams, Kruglak gallery director.

“Invaluable” insight gleaned from something that we can in turn analyze subject—who notices the design of a vase all day and painted their own vase. With their “Invaluable” exhibition, Jackie and Jenny have instead turned those artists of yore Jackie and Jenny have singlehandedly changed the artistic world. Jackie Lo and Jenny Yoshida Park convey a different message of American consumerism: the art is hand drawn on heavy stock paper that kindergartners use to learn coloring. Diane Adams, Kruglak gallery director.

Get in touch with the cosmos

A lone wolf and his cub walk a path of vengeance

“Lone Wolf and Cub” a manga created in the ‘70s by writer Kanzo Koike and artist Goseki Kojima. Set in the Tokugawa era Japan, the story’s central focus is Ogami Daigoro. Itto is a Shogun’s central focus is Ogami Itto and his son, Koike and artist Goseki Kojima. Set created in the ‘70s by writer Kazuo Hook, line and sinker for sushi "Invaluable" insight gleaned from something that we can in turn analyze subject—who notices the design of a vase all day and painted their own vase. With their “Invaluable” exhibition, Jackie and Jenny have instead turned those artists of yore Jackie and Jenny have singlehandedly changed the artistic world. Jackie Lo and Jenny Yoshida Park convey a different message of American consumerism: the art is hand drawn on heavy stock paper that kindergartners use to learn coloring. Diane Adams, Kruglak gallery director.

“Invaluable” insight gleaned from something that we can in turn analyze subject—who notices the design of a vase all day and painted their own vase. With their “Invaluable” exhibition, Jackie and Jenny have instead turned those artists of yore Jackie and Jenny have singlehandedly changed the artistic world. Jackie Lo and Jenny Yoshida Park convey a different message of American consumerism: the art is hand drawn on heavy stock paper that kindergartners use to learn coloring. Diane Adams, Kruglak gallery director.
WHO WROTE THE BOOK OF LOVE?
The Dos and Don’ts of Heartbreak

Michelle Maher
Assignment Editor

So here we are. You have heard some variation of my "I feel bad." Don't worry, while it hurts now to think of the words that tore your beautiful soul to shreds, you will get over it. I'm here to help. The second thing we need to remember is that saying, "I'll move on," does not mean you'll move on. Moving on is the only sure way to move on. "That how, Chelle? How?" Can you wait two seconds, dude? This isn't a 300-word article for a reason.

- Don't burn all of your photos and reminisce of him into the flames... yet.
- Put them onto a flash drive, give them to your trusty best friend and then delete them from your phone, computer and whatever else you kids are using these days. He is worth a burn stain on the carpet by the "incident" that you will never get rid of. No, so he's not. Why? Because he's a dumb ass. The shirt he left at your house, however, will make for an excellent rag. Free feel to use it to clean out your gutters. Those gutters are getting dirty and that shirt can handle all kinds of... shit... use it to "his."

- Don't dwell on what you said or did wrong. Unless you flat out cheated or abused the other party, it's possible that it's not your fault. The easiest place to go to is "I messed up because..." but it's not a good place to be. So minus illegal and unethical situations, quit thinking you are the worst thing to happen to humanity.
- Realize that even though the relationship didn't go as you had planned, doesn't mean you are at fault. It doesn't mean he or she is at fault. You know what it means? It means the relationship didn't go as planned. The cheated or abused you then women, you and the possible thoughts of someone! The list goes on.
- Don't listen to sad songs on repeat! Get it; I listened to Adele's "Someone Like You" 42 times in three weeks. Sad songs are really helpful. They sometimes do a better job of explaining how I feel than I do. Just quit the repeat. If you must listen to "Someone Like You" then don't forget to have something in the lineup that will make you either laugh or be happy you're alone. Try "Are You Fucking Kidding Me?" "Schadenfreude," "Grow a Pear," and "My Give a Damn's Busted!"
- Don't get mad when people say the standard answers. I heard someone saying "you're too good for him anyways," "who cares? He's the idiot, not you." Clearly I'm not too good for him or he would know that and it sure doesn't feel like he's the idiot. From where I'm standing, you're just the item on his list.
- Do start to believe it. You are too good too. Did you know that how he would probably leave the toilet seat up all of the damn time? Do you want a wet ass because you're too good for him? Did you know that he would never get over someone who broke your heart, but instead because you are not for animal cruelty? Birds one stone.
- Don't talk about the words you have never been to, grab your best friend and hit the road jack!

- Don't stop laughing! It's easy to want to punish yourself and stop having fun. It's almost this feeling of "I'll laugh then I didn't truly love him." I definitely understand where you are coming from, but you have to laugh!
- Try some funny YouTube videos, songs, movies or websites. Some websites to try could be: Failblog, Autocorrect Fail, Texts From Last Night or even going onto Comedy Central and watching reruns of "The Daily Show" or your favorite comedian.

- Don't blame yourself.
- Freaking blame him! He's the awful human being who decided to forget he cared about you. You know what you should do? Cease calling him by his real name and start calling him Voldemort. I know that I'm being mean to Voldemort, but I'm sure he was better than Harry made out. I mean, Voldemort killed a few people and minorly disfigured a baby who grew up to be a hero. This guy broke your heart. Yea, I'd rather have Voldemort.

- Don't isolate yourself. I know the whole "I just need to be alone" mentality. You're hurt and nobody can fix it. Don't be alone with your thoughts, because that will lead to dwelling and dwelling will lead to crying and crying will lead to mascara, and let's be honest, no one likes mascara on run.
- Have a girls' weekend! Go grab your mud mask and pull out the Strawberry Wine! There is nothing better than forgetting you are heartbroken and remembering you are loved. There's a reason you have best friends and this is the best time to utilize them! Take a road trip. My favorite place to go is San Francisco. Take a weekend and drive up there. Stay at the Red Victorian. What's that? You are totally broke and can't make it all the way to San Francisco in a salvaged car that shakes when you go over sixty miles per hour? Me either. Instead list three diner dives that you have never been to, grab your best friend and hit the road jack!
- This will be the hardest one. It is so easy for us to believe "(s)he'll come back." Whether we want him or her to come back because we want that relationship or because we want the satisfaction of saying "you broke me; I'm going to break you," we still generally want the guy or girl to come crawling home. Do not, under any circumstances, believe he will. It is over. As hard as it is to think or say out loud, it is over.

- Remember that "no" means "no." He or she doesn't want to be with you anymore. Allow yourself to suffer the loss, but don't allow yourself to believe it will change. I'm sorry to be the one to tell you this but you want them gone anyways. You will find someone else who is far better, and while it hurts right now, it would hurt more to be with someone who didn't want to be with you. They didn't want to be with you and never will. I'm sorry. I'm really, really sorry. I just want to knock the "maybe" out of your head so you can move the heck on! You're far too good to be stuck in maybe! You are no one's booby prize. You are a gem!
Swing low, sweet Chariot

Michelle Maher
Assignment Editor

When I look back on my life there are a few things that I know will stick out to me. Memories that I have shared at the Chariot will be one of those memories that I never let go of. I will never let go of the people I have met. I can honestly say that I am proud to not only work with the most inspirational, loving, hard-working and caring group of individuals, but that we started as coworkers and will leave as best friends.

At the Chariot we work hard, but we play harder. Don’t believe me? Stop by any Thursday night. You will find us all huddled around a computer screen. There are serious conversations amidst bursts of laughter, exaggerated rolled eyes and plain old-fashioned fun. I can honestly tell you that I have never laughed so hard as some of those days when Jane tells an amazing and classic story that leaves all of us in both awe and amusement. I have never felt so loved as when I get a letter to the editor that makes me a little less than stoked and my Chariot family hugs me and tells me that it’s good people are reading what I’m writing.

You know what my favorite thing about the Chariot is? We are all freaking awesome people. Seriously, it is hard to achieve our level of awesome. It takes hard work to get a paper out. I’m sorry. I should rephrase. It takes a whole hell of a lot of hard work to get a paper out. No one on the Chariot staff would say to you, “join the Chariot because it’s easier than making cereal.” It’s not true. Every single one of us, however, will say that while it’s hard, it’s 100 percent worth it.

We are a dynamic and broad group of individuals ranging from the philosophical deep thinker who will make you laugh when you least expect it, the loud Marine who appears tough but wouldn’t hurt a kitten, the comic book nerd who has had me in stitches so many times I can’t count, the liberal hippie who won’t shut up to our fearless leader who is such sheer awesome that she can’t really be put into one category.

It’s hard to say you “really know a person” after only being with them for a semester but I really feel like I know these boys. We have been through some hard times together, some amazing times together and I’m not going to lie, there have been some pretty confusing times too. The point is that we got through it together as a unit! I remember when I first met our Editor in Chief, Nima, on a Chariot retreat to the beautiful island of Catalina. He was a quiet, brilliant type who we all pictured writing a book that changed the world. I still see him as that. The amount of things that we get to do together is crazy! We are in the midst of planning a holiday party with ugly-sweater contests and white elephant gifts because those are the types of people we are. We are in the midst of planning a December trip to Julian and planning out how our trip to New York will work. It’s funny because the Chariot isn’t just a room and a paper to me anymore. It’s pretty much a lifestyle. I can’t say I’m prouder to be a part of any other team!

We’d be happy meet you if you want to stop by and ask for an application. Our one true requirement is that you meet an awesome level of amazing that only few possess. Be ready to learn and take advice. This is an intense job, but there is nothing more worth it than this!

Intramural Sports Schedule

Tournaments:
- Tennis (Doubles) Nov. 29, 6-8 p.m. Tennis Courts
- Poker Nov. 30, 5:30 p.m. Gym
- Soccer Dec. 10, 1-3 p.m. Fields

Open Play:
- Volleyball Nov. 21, Nov. 28, Dec. 5, 5:30-7:30 p.m. Gym

You know what you want to do? You want to join the Chariot staff. You have been reading it all semester and thinking to yourself “holy moley, they sound like awesome individuals.” We are awesome individuals and you should join. All you have to do is stop by our sexy little office and fill out an application. When you drop off your application bring a sample of your writing. Can’t wait to see you on the flip side!
Job Opportunities

Bookkeeper/Data entry office clerk, Jeffrey C. Weiss, CPA, CDF, $10/0-15/hr. Part time
Financial data entry, bank reconciliation, filing and general office work. Must type 60 wpm, 10 key by touch, Excel, Word, willing to learn. Must be organized. To apply: email jeffweisscpa@gmail.com

Craft Polishing, Earth Transitions, Oceanside campus.
Help gear up for the holiday season by polishing and packaging EMF protection jewelry and devices. Must be dependable, honest, likes making things, has a car and insurance and be willing to learn. To apply: call 760-795-6772.

Transfer Center

Did you know?

All UC/CSU applications are due by November 30 at 11:59 p.m. No exceptions!
Remind: There are some CSUs that require a supplemental application to be filled out in January to update full grades and spring classes, SJSU is one of them.
The last application workshops will be held on Monday, November 28 at 11:00 a.m., on the Oceanside campus in room 1201, again on Wednesday November 30 at 9:30 a.m., room 1201 on the Oceanside campus in room 1201. Appointments are not necessary. Prior to attending the workshop create an account at https://www.csumentor.com or application or https://admissions.universityofcalifornia.edu applicant.login.htm for your UC application. Bring an unofficial copy of all your transcripts and Educational Plan (if you have one).

Questions and answers

Question: I'm planning to transfer to CSUSM, but I haven't taken any language classes, will this affect my admission to the university?
Answer: No, even though you signed the contract you are not required to attend. The rule of thumb is UCSD is held to the contract you are not.

Question: What is an Intersegmental General Education Transfer Curriculum (IGETC)?
Answer: Completion of the IGETC will permit a student to transfer from a 2-year community college to a campus in either the California State University or University of California system without the need, after transfer, to take additional lower-division general education courses to satisfy campus general education requirements. Students must request “certification” of IGETC when all the requirements are met. Upon sending your final transcripts you will select the box “IGETC certification is evaluated”. The form is submitted to the Admissions & Records Office at MiraCosta College.

Spring Internships

It's not too early to start preparing for a Spring Internships. We have hundreds of Internship opportunities available. Social Media Networking, Graphic Design, Accounting, Marketing and many more. Stop by the Career Center and to encourage students currently enrolled at MiraCosta College.

Did you know?

All UC/CSU applications are due by November 30 at 11:59 p.m. No exceptions!
Remind: There are some CSUs that require a supplemental application to be filled out in January to update full grades and spring classes, SJSU is one of them.
The last application workshops will be held on Monday, November 28 at 11:00 a.m., on the Oceanside campus in room 1201, again on Wednesday November 30 at 9:30 a.m., room 1201 on the Oceanside campus in room 1201. Appointments are not necessary. Prior to attending the workshop create an account at https://www.csumentor.com or application or https://admissions.universityofcalifornia.edu applicant.login.htm for your UC application. Bring an unofficial copy of all your transcripts and Educational Plan (if you have one).

Questions and answers

Question: I'm planning to transfer to CSUSM, but I haven't taken any language classes, will this affect my admission to the university?
Answer: No, even though you signed the contract you are not required to attend. The rule of thumb is UCSD is held to the contract you are not.

Question: What is an Intersegmental General Education Transfer Curriculum (IGETC)?
Answer: Completion of the IGETC will permit a student to transfer from a 2-year community college to a campus in either the California State University or University of California system without the need, after transfer, to take additional lower-division general education courses to satisfy campus general education requirements. Students must request “certification” of IGETC when all the requirements are met. Upon sending your final transcripts you will select the box “IGETC certification is evaluated”. The form is submitted to the Admissions & Records Office at MiraCosta College.

Spring Internships

It's not too early to start preparing for a Spring Internships. We have hundreds of Internship opportunities available. Social Media Networking, Graphic Design, Accounting, Marketing and many more. Stop by the Career Center and to encourage students currently enrolled at MiraCosta College.

Did you know?

All UC/CSU applications are due by November 30 at 11:59 p.m. No exceptions!
Remind: There are some CSUs that require a supplemental application to be filled out in January to update full grades and spring classes, SJSU is one of them.
The last application workshops will be held on Monday, November 28 at 11:00 a.m., on the Oceanside campus in room 1201, again on Wednesday November 30 at 9:30 a.m., room 1201 on the Oceanside campus in room 1201. Appointments are not necessary. Prior to attending the workshop create an account at https://www.csumentor.com or application or https://admissions.universityofcalifornia.edu applicant.login.htm for your UC application. Bring an unofficial copy of all your transcripts and Educational Plan (if you have one).

Questions and answers

Question: I'm planning to transfer to CSUSM, but I haven't taken any language classes, will this affect my admission to the university?
Answer: No, even though you signed the contract you are not required to attend. The rule of thumb is UCSD is held to the contract you are not.

Question: What is an Intersegmental General Education Transfer Curriculum (IGETC)?
Answer: Completion of the IGETC will permit a student to transfer from a 2-year community college to a campus in either the California State University or University of California system without the need, after transfer, to take additional lower-division general education courses to satisfy campus general education requirements. Students must request “certification” of IGETC when all the requirements are met. Upon sending your final transcripts you will select the box “IGETC certification is evaluated”. The form is submitted to the Admissions & Records Office at MiraCosta College.

Spring Internships

It's not too early to start preparing for a Spring Internships. We have hundreds of Internship opportunities available. Social Media Networking, Graphic Design, Accounting, Marketing and many more. Stop by the Career Center and to encourage students currently enrolled at MiraCosta College.

Did you know?

All UC/CSU applications are due by November 30 at 11:59 p.m. No exceptions!
Remind: There are some CSUs that require a supplemental application to be filled out in January to update full grades and spring classes, SJSU is one of them.
The last application workshops will be held on Monday, November 28 at 11:00 a.m., on the Oceanside campus in room 1201, again on Wednesday November 30 at 9:30 a.m., room 1201 on the Oceanside campus in room 1201. Appointments are not necessary. Prior to attending the workshop create an account at https://www.csumentor.com or application or https://admissions.universityofcalifornia.edu applicant.login.htm for your UC application. Bring an unofficial copy of all your transcripts and Educational Plan (if you have one).

Questions and answers

Question: I'm planning to transfer to CSUSM, but I haven't taken any language classes, will this affect my admission to the university?
Answer: No, even though you signed the contract you are not required to attend. The rule of thumb is UCSD is held to the contract you are not.

Question: What is an Intersegmental General Education Transfer Curriculum (IGETC)?
Answer: Completion of the IGETC will permit a student to transfer from a 2-year community college to a campus in either the California State University or University of California system without the need, after transfer, to take additional lower-division general education courses to satisfy campus general education requirements. Students must request “certification” of IGETC when all the requirements are met. Upon sending your final transcripts you will select the box “IGETC certification is evaluated”. The form is submitted to the Admissions & Records Office at MiraCosta College.

Spring Internships

It's not too early to start preparing for a Spring Internships. We have hundreds of Internship opportunities available. Social Media Networking, Graphic Design, Accounting, Marketing and many more. Stop by the Career Center and to encourage students currently enrolled at MiraCosta College.

Did you know?

All UC/CSU applications are due by November 30 at 11:59 p.m. No exceptions!
Remind: There are some CSUs that require a supplemental application to be filled out in January to update full grades and spring classes, SJSU is one of them.
The last application workshops will be held on Monday, November 28 at 11:00 a.m., on the Oceanside campus in room 1201, again on Wednesday November 30 at 9:30 a.m., room 1201 on the Oceanside campus in room 1201. Appointments are not necessary. Prior to attending the workshop create an account at https://www.csumentor.com or application or https://admissions.universityofcalifornia.edu applicant.login.htm for your UC application. Bring an unofficial copy of all your transcripts and Educational Plan (if you have one).

Questions and answers

Question: I'm planning to transfer to CSUSM, but I haven't taken any language classes, will this affect my admission to the university?
Answer: No, even though you signed the contract you are not required to attend. The rule of thumb is UCSD is held to the contract you are not.

Question: What is an Intersegmental General Education Transfer Curriculum (IGETC)?
Answer: Completion of the IGETC will permit a student to transfer from a 2-year community college to a campus in either the California State University or University of California system without the need, after transfer, to take additional lower-division general education courses to satisfy campus general education requirements. Students must request “certification” of IGETC when all the requirements are met. Upon sending your final transcripts you will select the box “IGETC certification is evaluated”. The form is submitted to the Admissions & Records Office at MiraCosta College.

Spring Internships

It's not too early to start preparing for a Spring Internships. We have hundreds of Internship opportunities available. Social Media Networking, Graphic Design, Accounting, Marketing and many more. Stop by the Career Center and to encourage students currently enrolled at MiraCosta College.
Hey Tex!
The artist here, As I was sitting here, typing on my computer I had a stroke of inspiration. Why don’t I take the theoretical reader through my thought process? Superlative idea! I’ll just explain to you, the reader, why I make some of the decisions I do. Maybe that’ll shed some light on this pedantic medium we call cartoons.

Will she be the first female president of her country? Will she be the first doctor from her village? Will she be the first in her family to graduate? Working to support girls’ education worldwide.

Join thousands of creative young people who are starting their own campus chapter of She’s the First.

Visit us at shesthefirst.org and follow us @shesthefirst to learn more.

Film noir: Gloomy weather with the promise of rain and a night filled with broken dreams and double crossings. Add the occasional roll of thunder as drama dictates (or allows) and stir together. There, you’ve got yourself a film noir/ pulp homage. Lovers of bad taste, unite!

I could go about my decisions and why my cartoons are incomprehensible to a select few but that would necessitate an entire dissertation and I haven’t the time for that. Be good, kiddos.

Thats all folks!

MiraCosta College
Volunteer Hours

It’s not too early to plan for spring. Get your free MiraCosta Student Planner.

Pick one up in the Student Activities office.

For details or additional information call 760.944.4449 x6891