myEdPlan is now available for adult high school students! myEdPlan is MiraCosta's online degree audit and student education planning tool for counselors and students. It allows counselors and students to generate a degree audit which shows progress toward completing their adult high school diploma. myEdPlan is also used for college credit associate degree and certificate programs.

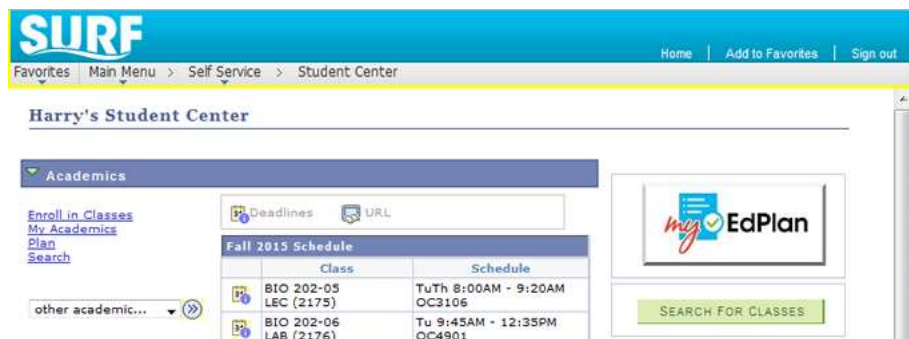

Using myEdPlan, counselors can create comprehensive semester-by-semester education plans which students can access online, 24x7, via SURF. These online education plans can be referenced by students each semester as they plan their class schedules, and can also be used to track individual student progress toward completing educational goals.

Schedule an appointment with your counselor to develop an approved semester-by-semester abbreviated or comprehensive online education plan.

Frequently Asked Questions

How do I get an online education plan?

Make an appointment with a counselor to get a counselor-approved online education plan. If you have recently completed a paper education plan with a counselor, it is still honored and valid. You will not be able to view your paper education plan online. Students can create their own draft education plan online, but it must still be brought to a counselor for approval to be recognized by the school for purposes of priority enrollment.

Will myEdPlan show my credit at other schools?

External credit (classes taken at other schools) must be manually entered by a MiraCosta staff member. Your applicable high school transcript credits may not be automatically reflected. Please see an Admissions and Records staff member at the Community Learning Center to request your credits be evaluated and entered into myEdPlan.
